Forward Looking Statements

This press release contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Examples of forward-looking statements in this press release include statements about, among other things: the efficiency or quality of services and testing, momentum, trajectory, vision, future opportunities and future growth of Fulgent's testing and laboratory services, technologies and expansion, the future benefits of Fulgent's research and development efforts, Fulgent's identification and evaluation of opportunities and its ability to capitalize on opportunities, and Fulgent's ability to continue to scale and grow its business.

Forward-looking statements are statements other than historical facts and relate to future events or circumstances or Fulgent's future performance, and they are based on management's current assumptions, expectations, and beliefs concerning future developments and their potential effect on Fulgent's business, including the acquired businesses and assets of Bako Pathology and StrataDx. These forward-looking statements are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, which may cause the forward-looking events and circumstances described in this press release to not occur, and actual results to differ materially and adversely from those described in or implied by the forward-looking statements. These risks and uncertainties include, among others: Fulgent's level of success in establishing and obtaining the intended benefits from partnerships, strategic investments, joint ventures, other relationships or acquisitions and the risks related to potential assumed liability and integration challenges in connection with these partnerships, strategic investments, joint ventures, other relationships and acquisitions (which expressly include the Bako Diagnostics and StrataDx acquisitions); the market potential for, and the rate and degree of market adoption of, Fulgent's tests (and following and assuming the completion of the acquisitions, Bako and StrataDx's tests); Fulgent's ability to maintain turnaround times and otherwise keep pace with rapidly changing technology; Fulgent's ability to maintain the low internal costs of its business model; Fulgent's ability to maintain an acceptable margin; risks related to volatility in Fulgent's results, which can fluctuate significantly from period to period; risks associated with the composition of Fulgent's customer base, which can fluctuate from period to period and is often comprised of a small number of customers that account for a significant portion of Fulgent's revenue; Fulgent's level of success in obtaining coverage and adequate reimbursement and collectability levels from third-party payors for its tests and testing services; the success of Fulgent's development efforts, including Fulgent's ability to progress its candidates through clinical trials on the timelines expected; Fulgent's compliance with the various evolving and complex laws and regulations applicable to its business and its industry; and Fulgent's ability to protect its proprietary technology and intellectual property. As a result of these risks and uncertainties, forward-looking statements should not be relied on or viewed as predictions of future events.

The forward-looking statements made in this press release speak only as of the date of this press release, and Fulgent assumes no obligation to update publicly any such forward-looking statements to reflect actual results or to changes in expectations, except as otherwise required by law. Fulgent's reports filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, or the SEC, including its annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2025, filed with the SEC on February 27, 2026, and the other reports it files from time to time, including subsequently filed annual, quarterly and current reports, are made available on Fulgent's website upon their filing with the SEC. These reports contain more information about Fulgent, its business and the risks affecting its business.
